

The best time to protect your supply chain was pre-pandemic– The second-best time is now!

The COVID-19 pandemic pushed supply chains to new limits. With mandated lockdowns, shortages and vendor uncertainty, organizations are struggling to meet business objectives. Avetta can help.

See how reengaging with us can help you protect against the global pandemic and other unforeseeable challenges.

Protecting Against a Global Pandemic –The COVID-19 pandemic has fragmented your supply chain– Avetta helps you heal it.

- 1 Assessing Supplier Financial Stability. Many of your suppliers might be struggling with financial stability, and that puts you at risk. Avetta’s financial risk monitoring and supply chain solutions help you take control of all the variables.
- 2 Finding Alternative Suppliers. With over 100,000 global suppliers within the Avetta network, it’s easy for you to source new suppliers when your current ones are unable to hit your targets. Building alternative suppliers into your supply chain safeguards against future mandated lockdowns.
- 3 Building Business Continuity into Prequalification. When operating a complex supply chain, information can be a defining factor of success or failure. The Avetta system makes it easy for you to assess the continuity plans of your suppliers and ensure your supply chain stays resilient.

Clients that use Avetta lead their industries in safety and sustainability

The biggest error supply chain professionals can make is to wait for things to go back to normal—that may never happen. Delays in supply chain improvement just leaves your business vulnerable to these and other future challenges.

See why so many organizations are choosing Avetta, and why they’re doing it right now.