

Worker Management

Employee-Level Verification for Safer Work Sites

You have prequalified your suppliers at the company level, but what about the workers coming to your sites? Are they qualified? Have they completed required training? Avetta's Worker Management solution gives you employee-level visibility to ensure contracted workers are certified and trained to safely conduct the work they are tasked to perform.

How it Works

①

Avetta configures your qualification and training requirements by role and location.

②

Contractors upload licenses and certifications and complete training to prove compliance before workers arrive on site.

③

Assess worker compliance from anywhere in the field with any smart device and worker badges.

The Benefits

Safer Work Sites

Effectively manage site-level safety by monitoring who is coming to your work sites and where they have access on the site. Ensure they are qualified and trained to perform critical job functions.

Faster Induction

Contracted workers are ready to work faster by completing site-specific training and assessments before they arrive at the job.

Reduced Risk

Reduce the risk of costly incidents and citations with visibility into each contracted worker's qualifications and training.

Higher Quality Work

Get the most out of your outsourcing investment by ensuring only the right people are allowed to work at your sites.

Since we started working with Avetta, we have a much greater comfort level with our contractors. The Avetta solution is a powerful tool; and, as a leader in our industry, we can use it to make the industry safer.

The Capabilities

Online Training and Exams

Save time by deploying your induction training online before contracted workers arrive at your sites. Ensure proper knowledge retention through assessments.

License and Certification Management

Confirm workers have the necessary documentation required to perform work at your sites with an easy-to-use document management system. In addition, you can create certificates from a variety of formats to meet your specific standards and requirements of applicable safety organizations.

Compliance Tracking

Easily set your qualification and training requirements by role and location. View worker compliance at a glance and get notified of any pending changes in compliance.

Multi-Site, Multi-Language Support

Seamlessly share worker information across multiple sites to reduce duplicate efforts. Multi-language support is available for a local experience throughout global supply chains.

Badging

Create badges for on-site enforcement. Easily scan badges from any smart device to control access to your sites or verify the compliance of workers already on-site.

Customizable Dashboards

Get a high-level view of all your contracted workers by company, role, and location. Easily drill down to individual employee documents, historical training, and qualification data.
