Avetta Helps Scottish Compressed Air Specialists Strengthen Health and Safety Practices
Kerr Compressor Engineers (EK) Ltd. is a leading provider of compressed air services. Since 1980 they have designed and installed reliable, energy efficient compressed air, blower, vacuum, and Nitrogen generation systems. To strengthen sustainable business practices, Kerr Compressors joined the Avetta network and immediately reached compliance with several market leading companies in the UK quarrying and extraction industry. No longer competing on price alone when submitting project proposals and quotations, Kerr Compressors utilizes their Avetta certification to demonstrate their proactive efforts to minimize risk in its supply chain and streamline compliance through supplier training, documentation, risk assessment, and centralization of their numerous accreditations and certificates.
Scottish clients in the quarrying, aggregation, and extraction industry seek suppliers and contractors that are trained to undertake specialized tasks and have demonstrated a supply chain that actively minimizes its risk of accidents.

Procurement teams for the major quarrying companies in the UK maintain a list of qualified suppliers that are awarded projects, making an Avetta membership key for Kerr Compressors to continue working with these large companies in the UK extraction industry.
